

After looking at the manuscript, I would suggest that the author to respond to these suggestions made:

1. Abstract needs to be modified by adding little information on the expected application of this current work. Author is also advised to add a few more key results obtained from this work.
2. Most of the references cited in this manuscript are quite back dated. I am strongly suggesting the author add more recent references dated between 2015 to 2021.
3. The overall aims and objective of the current work is not clearly stated and there are no supporting references that show the problem statement of this work.
4. Results need to be validated and conclusion really needs attention as the conclusion does not really answer the objective.
5. Author needs to send this manuscript for English proofread as I found some grammatical errors while reviewing the article.