In the abstract, please correct the following errors: "de-velopment" (line 16); "Di-mension" (line 20); "iden-tified" (line 23).	The words were corrected in lines 16, 20 and 23.
Line 49: Why is only Latin America specifically mentioned as an example where rurality is synonymous with poverty? This is not the case of Latin America only.	The term "Latin America" has been replaced by "Latin America and other areas worldwide".
Line 226: Six scientific metadata sources and extracted data were used to carry out this bibliometric analysis, as explained in Figure 1. However, it is not clear why the authors did not merge all the articles (or at least as many as possible) from all the databases in a single file for VOSviewer processing, after eliminating the duplicates. Moreover, I suggest adding more details in Figure 1: (a) how many papers were identified per source (example: Web of Science: 774 papers).	Part of the exercise is to observe the difference in results between the different databases; for this reason, the documents have not been merged in order to identify the main findings among the trends of the publications indexed in the databases.
Are the years from Figure 13 displayed correctly: 2014 (point b); 2016 (point a); 2018 (points c and d)? It lacks consistency. Moreover. the legend is missing the Figure 13 at point e.	Figure 13 (point e) has been updated. All downloaded documents have the same time window (2000-2019), however, the software averages the period of highest number of document publication and presents that period as the most recent sample; hence the discrepancy between the different databases, the information has been included in line 603-607
"In the quadrants of the strategic map in Figure X" – please correct this error from line 745.	The error in line 745 has been corrected.
In Figures 15 and 16: not all text is visible ("Niche" for example). There are no "Motor themes" previously described in lines 736-743.	Adjusted figures 15 and 16 and corrected in the text: "driving themes by Motor themes" Line 750
- In the Conclusions section, I propose explaining the limitations of this study, as well as suggesting future research avenues.	The recommendations have been included in Lines 1094 - 1107.
